

If you are a first year upper level photo student please complete the “A-Z Project”. If you are a returning photography student who did the A-Z project last year, then you will be completing the “Pick A Something” project.

The A-Z Alphabet Project

Objective: The objective of this project is to take pictures of things that look like the letters A-Z. Take a look at the photo above, it's actually a chain to a porch swing, but the one piece looks like a letter “S”. Once you start this project you'll start looking at ordinary things – buildings, cloud formations, playground equipment, etc., and you'll start to see things in a completely different way. It will give you a new perspective on things to photograph.

Keep in mind all those fun fundamentals about photography... Lighting, angles, depth of field, the elements of art, the principles of design that we talked about in photography class last year.

Due: The first week of school

If you have any questions let me know! Happy photographing :)

Pick-A-Something

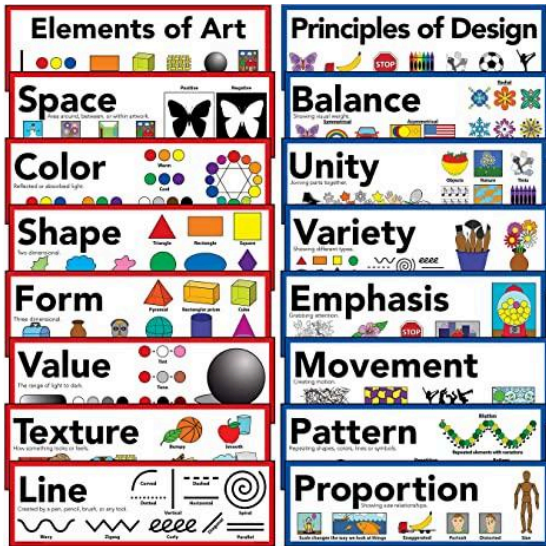

Pick something and try to get a collection of photos representing it. For instance, pick a color and try to go all day photographing only red things, or try only getting pictures of things that are square when you're on a walk.

The upside of this project is that it gets you to start seeing ordinary things in different way – taking a snapshot looking down at everyone's shoes is going to start to get boring, so it forces you to start thinking creatively... Like this one above!

Objective: Pick a concentration (theme), and take 10 photographs in that concentration. Using all your previous knowledge of: rule of thirds, balanced composition, positive and negative space, and all of the other principles of design and elements of art.
